Featured speakers:

Ray Archuleta - Ray is a Conservation Agronomist at the NRCS East National Technology Center, in Greensboro, North Carolina. Ray teaches soil quality and the principles of agroecology throughout the country. Ray has gained a national reputation in teaching producers about soil quality factors and cover crop utilization. He has 23 years of work experience with the Natural Resources Conservation Service.

Kevin Ogles - Kevin began his career with the Soil Conservation Service 1984. His certifications include: the American Society of Agronomy (Certified Crop Advisor, 1997) and the American Forage & Grasslands Council (Certified Grassland Professional, 2005). Kevin enjoys training NRCS staff, other agriculture advisory professionals and farmers the principles of good grazing management and how its many benefits help all resources including people.
