

WA506.03 Metrication

Washington NRCS projects will not be required to convert to metric units in all materials and publications. Design calculations and documentation will be at the discretion of the designer. The final design plans shall be drawn and labeled in units the contractor can use for construction.

Labeling guidance for conversion between English and Metric units described in this section shall be followed where conversions are made.